Flight Pass Terms and Conditions

No rights of any kind accrue in the Flight Pass program except as specifically defined herein. There are no exceptions to these conditions of membership except for those set out in this document. Alaska Airlines reserves the right to interpret and apply these conditions of membership in its sole discretion. Alaska Airlines' Flight Pass program may be modified or terminated by Alaska Airlines at any time.

In addition to the terms and conditions set forth here, the Alaska Airlines Contract of Carriage applies to all reservations made using Flight Pass.

Membership

Eligibility
Subscriptions are for individuals only. Each individual must enroll separately; there are no group or family memberships. Only individuals age 18 and older may subscribe. Subscriptions cannot be transferred to another individual or third-party. The individual specified at sign-up is the only person authorized to use this membership.

Sign-Up
Individuals may subscribe to Flight Pass online at FlightPass.AlaskaAir.com. Upon sign-up, the individual must create a Flight Pass account by providing a valid email address and creating a password. It is the customer's responsibility to memorize the password entered into the system. In case the password has been forgotten, it can be restored by calling Alaska Airlines and requesting a password reset. The email entered upon sign-up is the user identification and cannot be changed after sign-up. All program communications will be sent to this email address.

Enrollment in the Alaska Airlines Flight Pass subscription requires each individual to provide his/her name, address, contact information, and birth date. This information must match exactly the government-issued identification the traveler will use during their travel. This information cannot be modified after sign-up.

Travel agents, travel arrangers, and unauthorized brokers may not create or manage Flight Pass accounts for others. Members will be asked to verify all personal information before speaking with Alaska Airlines employees about their accounts. If Alaska Airlines becomes aware that a member or a third party has misrepresented his/her identity in order to enroll in Flight Pass or perform a Flight Pass transaction, Alaska Airlines may, in its sole discretion, void the membership and/or transaction.

Term
Flight Pass has a mandatory term of 12 months from activation, during which it cannot be cancelled and is non-refundable. Following the mandatory 12-month period the subscriber may choose to cancel his/her subscription. If cancelled, the subscription will end at the end of the 12-month period. If not cancelled, the subscription will automatically renew for another 12-month term at the then current terms. If the monthly fee of the subscription will be changing at time of renewal the subscriber will be given notice. It is the responsibility of the subscriber to cancel his/her subscription before the renewal date.
During sign-up the subscriber may choose when to begin his/her membership: immediately or at the beginning of the next month. If the subscriber chooses to begin immediately, any credits deposited into that account may have a shorter validity period and must be used before the expiration date.

Monthly Subscription Fees
Monthly subscription fees will be stated at the time of purchase and sign-up or renewal. The price agreed upon at sign-up will remain unchanged for the duration of the membership term. The fees for new membership plans may change at any time and will apply to all new sign-ups from that point in time forward. Monthly fees may be subject to tax, collected by Alaska Airlines, and are non-refundable except in the specific circumstances described in these Terms. The price of the subscription varies according to the selections and personalization made by the subscriber.

Fares
When redeeming a credit for roundtrip tickets, the subscriber must pay the fare associated with each flight. This fare will be displayed to the customer during the booking flow on the website. The majority of flights will have fares of $0.01. Access to these $0.01 fares is “included” in the subscription and displayed as such. Some “premium” flights will require fares of greater values. These flights will be identified as “premium” flights and the fare will be displayed to the subscriber during the booking flow of the website.

Taxes & Fees
Subscribers are required to pay all mandated taxes and fees associated with each flight, regardless of the fare selected. These taxes include, but are not limited to: US Transportation Tax, US Domestic Flight Segment Tax, Passenger Facility Charge, Sep. 11th Security Fee.

Pricing Table
The following table displays the full cost of a Flight Pass membership assuming only flights with Included fares are selected and that all credits are redeemed by the subscriber. The table reflects current pricing – if you purchased your Flight Pass subscription prior to the effective date of this table, your fees and costs may be different.
Payment Process

Monthly Payments
By joining Flight Pass, the subscriber agrees to 12 monthly, automated payments at the stated price at sign-up. The subscriber specifies the credit card to be used for the monthly payments during the sign-up process. This credit card can be updated after sign-up by logging into the Flight Pass account and updating the credit card information on file. Subscriptions are automatically renewed each month during the subscription term and the credit card on file will be billed accordingly. It is the responsibility of the subscriber to ensure the subscription is renewed successfully each month. Renewals will be processed on the 1st of each month, regardless of when the original sign-up and payment was made.

If a monthly payment is not successful, the subscriber will be alerted. If after 4 automatic attempts a successful payment cannot be made, automatic attempts will cease and the subscriber will be required to update their credit card on file and request another attempt. Any outstanding balance due will be charged at billing, up to and including prior months’ balances where payments were unsuccessful and unresolved.

Flight Reservations Payments
The credit card used to pay for flight fares, taxes, and fees is specified during the booking checkout process. The subscriber must enter a valid credit card at booking and payment must be successful for a reservation to be created.

Credits

Deposit
Upon successful payment each month of the monthly membership fees, credits for roundtrip flights will be deposited into the subscriber’s Flight Pass account. The number of such credits, and the frequency they are deposited into a user’s account, vary according to the options chosen by the subscriber during initial sign-up.

During such time that successful payment cannot be made, credits will not be deposited into an account and redemption of credits for roundtrip tickets will not be available.

Validity
Credits are valid up to the indicated expiration date assigned to each credit. The expiration date for each credit is the date by which that credit must be redeemed to book a future ticket on Alaska Airlines; the expiration date is not the date by which a ticket must be flown. If a credit is redeemed and a reservation created, and that reservation is cancelled prior to the credit’s expiration date, the credit is still valid and may be redeposited into the subscriber’s account. The subscriber must call Alaska Airlines to process the flight cancellation and request credit redeposit. The redeposit process may take up to 48 hours to complete. The expiration date of the original credit applies to a redeposited credit.

Forfeiture
If a credit is not redeemed prior to the expiration date that credit is forfeit. Credits cannot be rolled-over to future periods. If a credit is redeemed prior to expiration, but the reservation created by that credit is later cancelled after the credit’s expiration date, that credit is forfeit and cannot be redeposited into the subscriber’s account.

Flights

Routes & Carriers
Flight Pass credits can be redeemed for travel on nonstop Alaska Airlines flights within California and between California and Nevada, Arizona or Utah. Flights may be operated by Alaska Airlines, Horizon Air, or SkyWest Airlines. Only nonstop flights may be selected; no connections are permitted. Roundtrips must be between two airports; open jaw itineraries are not permitted. Flight Pass credits may not be redeemed for travel on other airlines, including partners, or on Alaska Airlines flights beyond the specified routes.

Advanced Purchase Requirement
The minimum advance purchase required is specified at program sign-up according to the options selected by the subscriber. Credits may be redeemed for flights between that advance purchase date and up to 90 days in the future. The outbound leg of a roundtrip flight must begin within 90 days of booking. The return leg of a roundtrip flight may be booked up to 104 days from booking.
Reservations

Booking
Subscribers redeem credits and create reservations by using the Flight Pass website. After logging into their account and searching for the desired roundtrip flights, the subscriber selects their desired flights, agrees to pay any associated fares, taxes, and fees for those flights, and enters billing information. Upon successful payment a reservation is created. In case of any error regarding the flight payment, the reservation will be placed in "HOLD" status, and the customer must contact Alaska Airlines to complete the transaction.

Reservations cannot be made within 2 hours of a flight’s departure. All advance purchase rules of the selected subscription plan apply. In the case of misuse of subscription, Alaska Airlines reserves the right to cancel reservations made by the offending subscription.

Passenger
The reservation is created for the passenger specified at initial program sign-up. No name changes or transfers are allowed.

Changes
Guest-initiated changes to reservations are permitted according to the terms laid out in this document. All changes to an itinerary must be made by calling Alaska Airlines.

Changes to flights with the same routings and with the same classes of service available are allowed. The new flights must be within 90 days of the original booking date/credit redemption date and must also meet the AP requirements of the subscription. Changes to flights with new routings or to flights with the same routing but with different classes of service available are also permitted. For these changes the guest must pay any difference in fare and any excess ticket value will be returned to the guest as an eWallet credit. eWallet credits are separate from the Flight Pass program and cannot be used to book future Flight Pass reservations or pay monthly Flight Pass fees. The new flights must be within 90 days of the original booking date/credit redemption date and must also meet the AP requirements of the subscription.

Cancellations
Guest-initiated cancellation of Flight Pass reservations are permitted according to the terms in this document. Reservations may be cancelled online at www.AlaskaAir.com or by calling Alaska Airlines. When permitted, redeposit of Flight Pass credits can only done by calling Alaska Airlines.

If the date of the cancel request occurs within the validity period of the credit that was redeemed to create the booking, the reservation may be cancelled and the Flight Pass credit may be redeposited into the subscriber’s account. Requests for credit redeposit must be made by calling Alaska Airlines. The redeposited credit will have the same terms and expiration as the original credit. The redeposit process may take up to 72 hours to complete. The ticket value of the cancelled reservation will be returned to the guest as an eWallet credit. EWallet credits are separate from the Flight Pass program and cannot be used to book future Flight Pass reservations or pay monthly Flight Pass fees.

If the date of the cancel request occurs after the expiration date of the credit that was redeemed to create the booking, the reservation may be cancelled but the Flight Pass credit will not be redeposited into the subscriber’s account. The ticket value of the cancelled reservation will be returned to the guest as an eWallet credit. EWallet credits are separate from the Flight Pass program and cannot be used to book future Flight Pass reservations or pay monthly Flight Pass fees.

Loyalty Miles
Reservations booked using Flight Pass may only earn miles in the Alaska Airlines Mileage Plan program. No miles may be earned as part of any other airline program, including those of Alaska Airlines’ partners.

Membership Cancellation

The subscription cannot be cancelled by the subscriber during the mandatory period of 12 months. Following the mandatory 12-month period the subscriber may choose to cancel his/her subscription. It is the responsibility of the subscriber to cancel; unless otherwise requested the Flight Pass will continue to renew each year. Payment terms for the new 12-month period, beginning with the 13th month, are subject to change. Any new terms will be communicated to the subscriber in advance of the new term beginning.

Cancellations at the end of each subscription term may be requested via the Flight Pass website or by calling Alaska Airlines.

In case the customer initiates a bank clarification (chargeback) with his/her banking institution regarding the recurring charge of the Flight Pass subscription, he will not be able to use said subscription nor any of the flights acquired until such process is completed and the corresponding payment of the subscription is made, in order for it to be fully paid and valid.

Alaska Airlines reserves the right to cancel subscriptions for any reason and prevent future sign-ups for any reason.
